

Merz Structure No. 2 Burnt by Children at Play Kennedy

Poetry. MERZ STRUCTURE NO. 2 BURNT BY CHILDREN AT PLAY is comprised of a number of individual poems from love lyrics to conceptual elegies, from prompts for improvised performance poems to long poems that meditate on grief. The overarching theme of the book is loss. In 1981 Jake Kennedy accidentally burnt down an abandoned house. Years later as an adult, he read a story about how Kurt Schwitters interior house- sculpture (Merz Structure No. 2) was destroyed in 1951 after some children playing with matches accidentally burnt the building down. This sad unmaking, so similar in nature to his own haunting experience, became the inspiration for MERZ STRUCTURE NO. 2 BURNT BY CHILDREN AT PLAY, a collection of experimental poetry that explores the dynamic, if often unsettling, relationship between making and unmaking, bliss and pain, utterance and silence. Kennedy's style is stark but suggests much. Jonathan Ball
