

The Mother She Thought She Knew

A young woman from the projects who lived a hard life, from physical, mental and emotional abuse. Having to fend for herself, after her mother was taken to jail, she took to the streets where she worked for money as a prostitute. With the money she had from the streets and the money her mother had left her, she built her own empire of high priced call girls to later have it all taken away by her mother and her mothers man who she thought that cared for her.
