

The Sandbox

To all my fellow military family who are still serving overseas, to the ones who are home and to the ones who didnt make it home (you are not forgotten)a.To all the veterans of past, present and the future. Freedom is not free; we all sacrifice our lives for our country and the people in our country; our loved ones do the same as well when they support us and our decision to do what we do. Thank you all for supporting us! I wrote this book while I was deployed during 2007-2008 with the 708th Medical Company of the ILARNG. It was an experience that has forever changed my life and one I will never forget. I am proud to be serving in the IL Army National Guard; doing my part, serving my country. Thank you to all my friends and family who have supported me while I am in the military, even if you worry and may not agree with everything that the military does. I love you all!
